Fewer Road Deaths But More Accidents

TEL AVIV, Tuesday. — Fewer people were killed on the roads in 1952 than in 1950, although the total number of deaths and injured went up by 10.6 per cent from 4,406 to 7,086. This rise, however, was smaller than the increase in the number of vehicles (19.1 per cent) and of the population (18.9 per cent).

This was indicated by the report of the Police Department, which said that 212 persons were killed in 1952 as compared with 191 in 1950. The number of injured was 6,874 in 1952 as compared with 6,895 in 1950.

The report also said that the number of accidents was 1,100 in 1952 as compared with 1,050 in 1950. This was a decrease of 4.8 per cent.

The report also said that the number of vehicles was 1,100,000 in 1952 as compared with 920,000 in 1950. This was an increase of 19.1 per cent.
